USE CASES

System	Website displaying sorted information about world population
Actors	Customers looking for information about world population scenario	Customer logs into the website with particular credentials. All the countries will be displayed from largest population to smallest. User can then select if they want to view the population of countries, continents, region, district or cities from a drop-down menu. User can also type in the number of cities, countries or districts displayed on the website. The website will display a sorted list of a particular category that the user has selected and display § The name of the continent/region/country § The total population of the continent/region/country § The total population of the continent/region/country living in cities (including a %) § The total population of the continent/region/country not living in cities (including a %)